CIRCULAR

Greetings from ESIC !

ESI has been scrutinizing records of Employers on a routine basis. Whilst scrutinizing the employee database attached to the employers, it was found that the bank account numbers of many employees were tagged to a single common bank account number. In fact, each employee should have a unique bank account number. But many employees having the same account number is seen as a serious flaw. Further, it paves way for misuse of benefits payable to the Insured person by some vested interests. Some HR personnel/external consultants who have been assigned with the task of employee registration for the firm, using the firm's login credentials, were suspected to carry out this modus operandi to misappropriate and siphon off the benefit payments into their accounts.

The above act amounts to "cheating" as per IPC and moreover, since the interpolation is being done using the firm's credentials, "the firm" too becomes a party to the connivance and stands exposed to prosecution under IPC.

In view of the above scenario, ESIC wishes to alert all the employers to exercise stricter control and vigil over usage of login credentials while registering the employees in ESIC portal to avoid such pitfalls.

All employers are requested to ascertain that bank and other details of employees are properly fed into the portal while registering the employees. Also, please ensure that the data is fed in only on the basis of valid supporting documents.

Yours faithfully,

Signed by LALI SINGHA
 ROY
