Program on
Opportunities for Exploring Global Visibility for business Growth -
A platform for enhancing manufacturing capacity utilization

27th April, 2022 at 4.00 p.m. at FTCCI Surana Auditorium

Overview

Several manufacturing facilities (production units) are having surplus capacities in India. However, unplanned investment in capital like plant and machinery in certain cases has resulted in creation of excess manufacturing capacities. The underutilisation of these capacities adds to fixed and recurring costs affecting competitiveness of companies. A better utilisation of manufacturing capacity is necessary to achieve higher growth rate of output, employment, income and to make the best possible use of the scarce capital resources.

Manufacturing units can leverage their available surplus capacities by offering their facilities to global companies that are looking to set up pan-India manufacturing operations or are looking at part of the manufacturing from India in order to achieve scale of economics / easier market reach. Large Domestic and Global companies can collaborate for better utilisation of already established manufacturing facilities.

Objective

To enlighten on the perspectives of making surplus manufacturing capacities accessible to companies within India and across the globe. It will elaborate on how technology will help manufacturing companies in utilising surplus manufacturing capacities available with them.

Program Contents

- Information on availability of surplus manufacturing capacity in India.
- Use of technology to provide additional business opportunities to the local manufacturers on utilization of surplus capacities.
- Rationalisation of Capital expenditure on adding manufacturing capacities when already surplus capacities are available.
- Access to the global market and global visibility to Indian manufacturing units.
- Consolidation of smaller manufacturing units to reach an appropriate scale.
